Submissions by members of the programme committee were not allowed. Strict deadlines were kept. Every paper was allocated to at least 3 PC members. Decisions were reached in PC discussions, not based on numerical rankings from original (sub-)referees. Ultimately, every accepted paper had at least two PC champions together with two or three other supporting votes. All PC business was conducted electronically, using CyberChair.

In discussion following the report, a variety of views are expressed concerning the effect of having a submission deadline after LICS notification and policies regarding parallel submission of journal versions.

On the former, there seem to have been a couple of submissions of papers rejected for LICS, but their acceptance rate did apparently not differ significantly from the overall picture.

On the issue of parallel journal submission, CSL 02 allowed submission of research already submitted to a journal, provided that (a) the PC chair is notified in advance that this is the case, and (b) it is not scheduled for journal publication before the conference. After some discussion, a recommendation is formally accepted, with two votes against, to consider the merits of such an open policy. No specific formulation is adopted, as it is felt the matter essentially has to remain at the discretion of the PC.

Ad. 5 Matthias Baaz reports as PC chair for CSL 03, which will be held in conjunction with ESSLI in Vienna. In particular it is planned to have four invited speakers, one joint with ESSLI.

General comments and discussion cover policies with respect to conference fees, travel support for Eastern European participants, and the deadlines (left to the discretion of PC).

Ad. 6 The membership elected Iain Stewart to become president, Janos Makowsky to become vice-president, Clemens Lauteman to remain treasurer. None of the elections was contested, proposals accepted by acclamation.

Thanks are expressed to Marc Bezem for his term as president.

Ad. 7 Relationship with EATCS is discussed, considerations generally perceived to be in an early exploratory phase. Iain Stewart, as the new president, asks for a confirmation by the membership, of the mandate for the board to continue exploration of possible future cooperation with EATCS and ICALP track B. This is approved by the membership.

Ad. 8 A proposal is presented by Jerzy Marcinkowski for the location of CSL'04, in (or near) Wroclaw, to be organised by him. He presents two options, either a standard city location or a mountain resort hotel. Both options receive general support, and the board is advised to pursue corresponding plans.

Ad. 9 The treasurer briefly discusses the financial situation. It is felt that the present level of credit balance is sufficient to safeguard (and provide cash reserve for) future meetings. Beyond these requirements some money would now be available for other purposes.

Meeting closed at 19:25.
